Local Man Threatens Policeman with Knife

Bruce O'Dell, 20, of Grayling, was charged with assault with a deadly weapon after he threatened citizens and a Grayling policeman with a large knife.

At 4 p.m. Thursday, May 28, a Grayling City Policeman was the first law enforcement officer at the scene responding to a call at the Americana Apartments that a man was threatening people with a large knife. The Grayling City Police report said O'Dell picked up a large steak knife and threatened the policeman at the door. The patrolman pulled his gun and was able to talk him into putting the knife down. Arrest was made without further incident. O'Dell was arraigned on $10,000 cash bond.

Local Couple Attends Funerals For Two USS Stark Crewmen

George Bindschatel and his wife, Kimberly, of Frederic, attended the funerals of two of his shipmates that were aboard the USS Stark FFG-31 when it was attacked by an Iraqi warplane. The shipmates were Marty J. Supple, of North Olmstead, Ohio, and Wayne R. Weaver, of Clarion, Pennsylvania.

Bindschatel, who served four years aboard the USS Stark, was on the same Persian Gulf cruise for six months in 1984 aboard the USS Stark. After serving four years in the Navy assigned to the USS Stark, Bindschatel and his wife returned home to Frederic in November, 1988.

Military Plans To Reduce Aircraft Disturbances

By Major Joe Meredith
Airfield Commander

The Camp Grayling staff has made some changes recently from past practices to help alleviate some of the noise problems associated with helicopter operations at Grayling Army Airfield.

The Forward Area Refueling (where helicopters can receive their fuel while still operating) had been located at the airfield. The Post Commander recently signed a policy letter mandating all "Hot Refuel" operations to occur at previously constructed sites in the less populated and remote areas on the military reservation. The moving of this type of activity should have a positive effect on noise reduction at the airfield.

Flight crews departing the airfield now have a designated low level sector for departure that avoids all civilian populated areas. This special area is also designed so that it will not interfere with the civilian aircraft using the airport. This route will join the new flight corridor designed to allow for helicopters to fly at low levels from the two separate areas of Camp Grayling (North and South Camp). Special emphasis is on avoidance of any populated areas and the Hartwick Pines State Park.

Along with these changes there is a continuing effort to further reduce helicopter tactical activity at the airfield. Plans are being developed by the 46th Engineer Group, MI ARNG to build an Assault Landing Airstrip in south camp. This will become the alternative site for tactical helicopter training at Camp Grayling.

The airfield staff will continue to brief all pilots who train at Grayling regarding noise abatement procedures, i.e. avoidance of low flying over Lake Margrethe, landing and departing towards the center part of the airfield, to avoid the city, and avoiding overflights of homes at low altitudes. All military pilots subscribe to the Army "Fly Neighborly" program.

We hope that passing this information will be another positive step in keeping open communication, hereby enhancing understanding and cooperation.

County Receives $150,000 Grant For Low-Income Housing Needy Repairs

By Don Geiss

The Crawford County Housing Commission has received a grant for $150,000 which will permit grants or loans to low income families for needed repair of homes.

According to Community Development and Housing Director Randy Thompson, the grant came as a surprise because the county application last year was turned down on the basis of a scoring system which placed it just below the last governmental unit to receive money. Thompson said that he received a telephone call from a Michigan Commerce Department official who explained that they had additional funds and since the county was next in line it would receive the grant.

Thompson said that the money comes as a result of a Community Development Block Grant which originates with the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). He said that the county is in excellent shape to honor many loans because there is an additional $150,000 available from a Housing Preservation grant.

The loans can be made through the Housing Commission office in the County Building, Thompson said. Persons who are not certain if their income makes them eligible can call the office and obtain that information, he said.

"One of our major problems right now," Thompson said, "is that licensed and insured builders to bid on the jobs are not available." He said that if there are builders in the area who have the license and liability as well as workmen's compensation insurance they should get in touch with the housing office to be placed on the bid list.

A Community Home Improvement Program (CHIP) is also available and its unique feature is that money can be loaned from those funds for building garages, as well as renovating homes, Thompson noted. The only catch to that type of loan, he said is that the home must be at least 20 years old.

Welfare Fraud Cases Total $68,987 Here In Last Five Years

By Don Geiss

A new wrinkle in catching welfare cheaters is the establishment of an office in northern Michigan for an agent of the Inspector General's office.

The agent, Steven Bishop, is responsible for investigating those potential cases of fraud that are referred to his office by the Crawford County Department of Social Services (DSS). Actually Bishop covers 13 counties in northern Michigan but checks on only those cases in any of the counties that the respective local Social Services office requests him to look at.

He said that his background is in criminal investigation, including experience as a sheriff deputy, Michigan Railway Police and Michigan National Bank where he headed up their fraud division.

While Bishop does receive information from many sources including acquaintances of the alleged fraud perpetrator, he checks back with the local Social Services offices for confirmation. He said that he prefers that people contact the local DSS office because they have the necessary files on the individual to begin looking into the allegation. He emphasized that although his office investigates the cases, all of the local agencies still depend to a large degree on individuals who call in to complain about a suspected violator.

Robert Porter, DSS director in Crawford County said that when a complaint comes to the local office, a person checks the information against the policy and will know whether it constitutes fraud. If there is any question it is then referred to Bishop, Porter said.

Porter said that referrals come to his office from various sources including a fellow worker, a neighbor or others out in the community. The referrals go to Patricia Papendick who reviews the information and then contacts Bishop for his decision on investigating.

Bishop said that any fraud that is under $500 can be handled by the local office. Porter said that in the cases the local office handles, the money is recouped through a reduction in the client's grant.

Bishop said that each case that is referred to him by Papendick is discussed with her and if the feeling is still that it appears like fraud, he investigates further.

The first thing he must do after receiving a referral is to determine if the allegation is true, Bishop said. For instance, if the informant states that the man is working and not reporting his income, he checks on that. It may be some other type of allegation, he noted, including excess assets or a man in the home. He then continues his investigation to determine that they understood that they were supposed to report status of income and that they had intent to defraud the state. Once he proves all of the elements, it is reported to Crawford County Assistant Prosecutor David Sabin who then makes certain that it is a case that he can prosecute.

Sabin said that he normally makes three charges in a fraud case of this type. Failure to report the fraud itself by the client is a perjury charge based upon the fact that the client has signed documents at the local DSS verifying facts that are not true. He said, "That is a 15-year felony." The other two charges can be a misdemeanor or felony depending on how much money is involved.

Sabin noted that the way the case is finally handled is up to his judgement. If the amount is under $500 it is normally handled as a misdemeanor and over $500 is a felony.

He observed that even before a warrant is issued, he can enter into some sort of agreement with the person(s) if he determines that the fraud is not blatant. He must get the persons to admit that they are guilty and then they enter into a contract to repay on an installment basis. "If they do not comply with that because they are that type of person, it reinforces the initial impression that it was a fraudulent action in the first place," he noted. The person can then be taken to court and the contract that they signed with Sabin can also be used as evidence since they signed the papers admitting the fraud.

Sabin said that if they are convicted they will be subject to any sentence the judge has as a policy for a jail term. But additionally, he said, they will have to pay back all of the money that has been fraudulently received. He said that since the program of concentrated prosecution began in 1983, $68,987 has been collected or in a very few cases still in process of being collected. He commented that the largest single case was $15,173.96 and the second largest was for $10,391.21.

Decker Energy Predicts 1988 Groundbreaking

By Don Geiss

There is no race with any company to construct an electric-steam co-generation plant near Grayling because Decker Energy International already has a contract with Consumers Power Company to use the existing power line, said Mark Bearden, project manager, Decker Energy, last week when he talked to Crawford County commissioners.

He said that the line they have contracted for can only hold so much electricity and Decker will use it to its full capacity.

"A wood plant next door would be fine. We could share stuff," said Bearden, referring to the recent announcement by Ultrasystems to build a similar plant here but burning wood to produce the energy instead of gas as Decker intends to do.

Decker will break ground for the plant on Four Mile Road in the spring of 1988 and up to 75 workers will be needed for 15-18 months to build the plant, Bearden commented. There will be 15 full time employees to operate and maintain the facility, he noted.

Some members of the community misunderstood the reason for the seemingly sudden effort by the two companies to build a plant. It had been reported that the first company to complete the building and go on line would be the one obtaining the use of the line. It was also suggested that gaining the line would rule out the opposing company because there would be no method of transmission.

Bearden's remarks to the commissioners would seem to suggest that Ultrasystems has full knowledge of the line contract and will build despite that lack. He noted that they would have to construct their own line to Higgins Lake.

In the discussion about the Decker Plant, Bearden said that substantial taxes will be paid to the various units of government for the facility. He noted that there will also be low cost steam available to run local industries. He also pointed out that there will be no significant noise, traffic, air emissions or solid waste.

Decker has found that gas is much more efficient in producing electricity than is wood, Bearden said. He also pointed out that the company estimated that they would have 240 truckloads of ash to dump every year if wood would have been the energy source.

Bearden announced that an Open House will be held on June 4 at the Grayling Holiday Inn from 12 noon until 10 p.m. He said that anyone in the community is welcome to stop by and ask questions about the plant. He noted that Decker has a reputation of community involvement and Grayling will be no exception. He observed in an open letter to the community that one of Decker's founders, Gerald Decker, is a permanent resident of Higgins Lake and is already becoming active in Grayling.

Decker Energy has already applied for a permit for the plant through the Michigan Air Pollution Control Commission. Janice Denman, with the DNR Air Quality Division, said the proposed plant operation would be clean and no state or federal air quality standards would be violated. Denman said there doesn't tend to be an odor problem associated with this type of generation plant either.

The plant would have two turbines. Natural gas would be used to drive one turbine. The waste heat from the first turbine would be captured and turned into steam to help drive another turbine. Oil would be used as a back-up energy source.

$9,400 Weyerhaeuser Grant Starts River Clean-up

By Don Geiss

Crawford County jail inmates will be offered one half day of additional jail time credit if they work on the cleaning project on the AuSable River, and the Weyerhaeuser Foundation has agreed to pay expenses for the program.

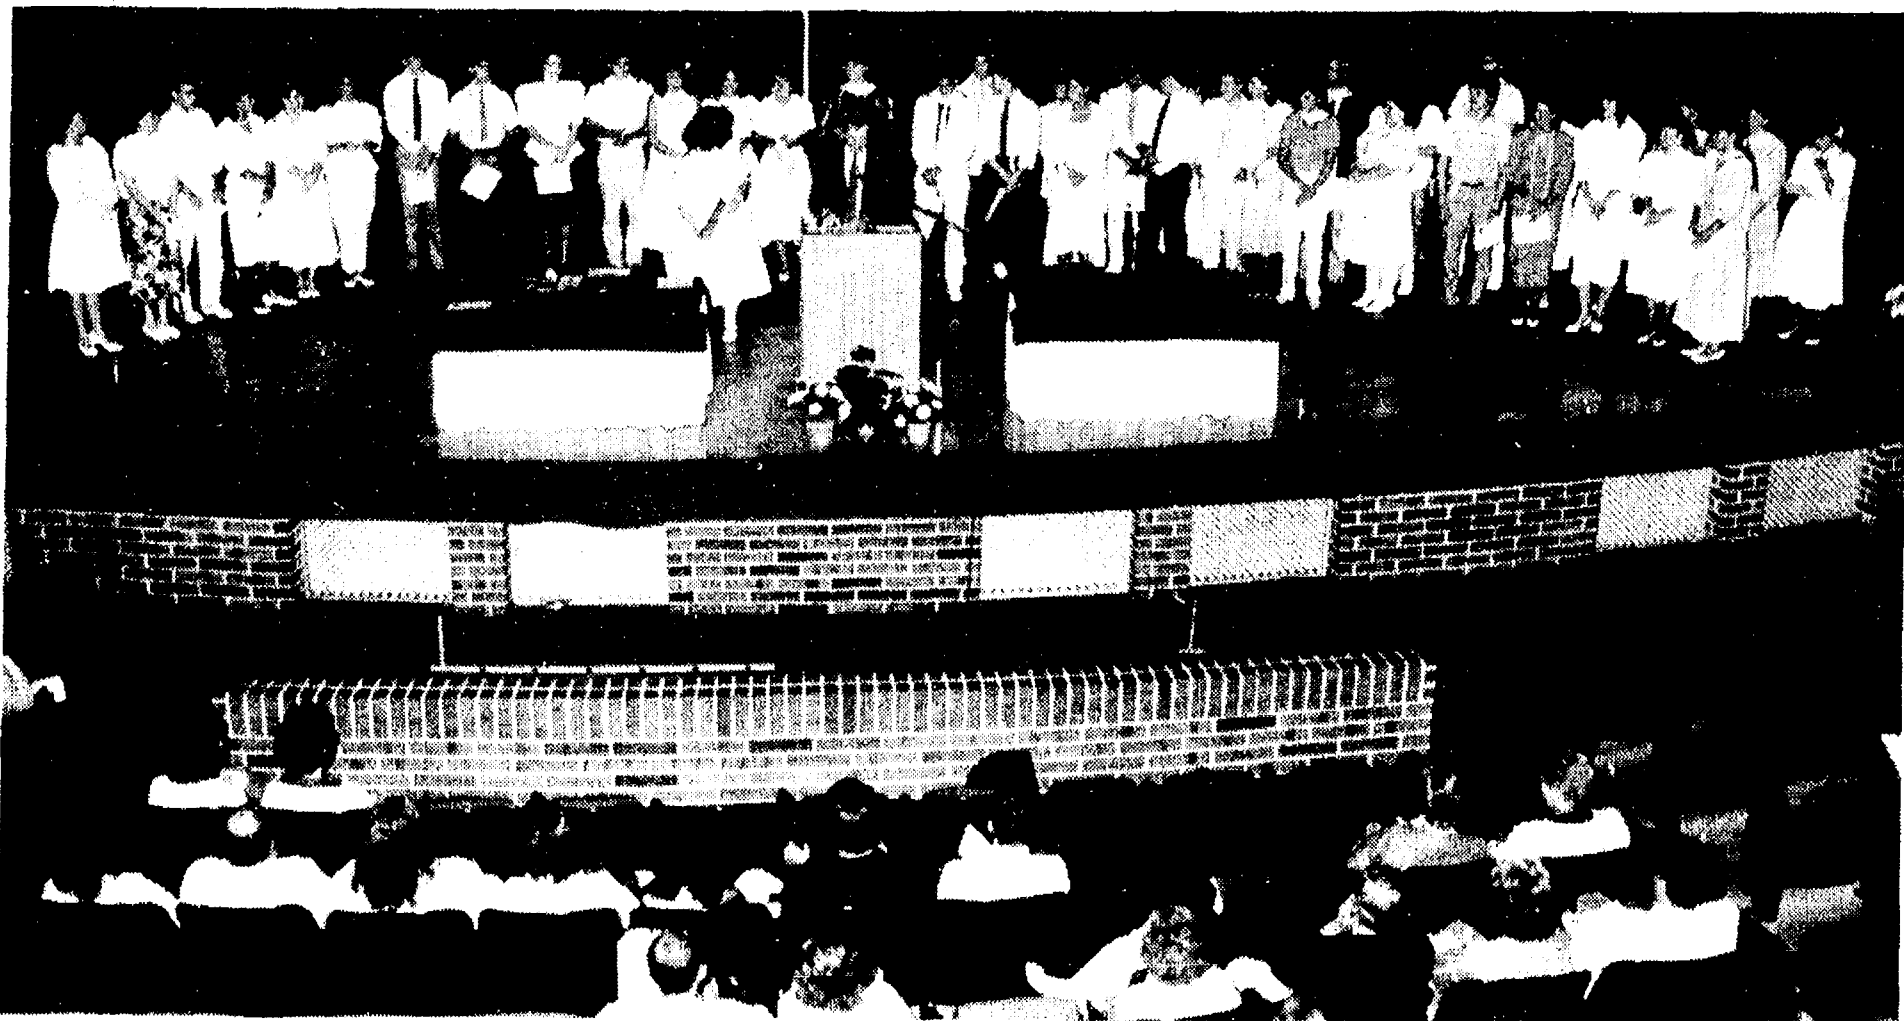

The word finishing the arrangement with the inmates was passed along to the Crawford County commissioners by Sheriff Harold Hatfield. He said that the various persons involved with sentences and prisoner care had agreed to the additional time off for work on the project.

Meanwhile Bob Smock, Fish Hatchery and Cleanup Campaign chairman, said that a check in the amount of $9,400 has been received from Weyerhaeuser and will finance the project. He also released a timetable for the cleanup which shows that the campaign will begin on June 1 on the East Branch of the AuSable and continue through September 17 with picking up the litter on access roads.

The timetable indicates that the North and South Branches of the River will also be cleaned. Smock and Hatfield observed that the program may serve as a model to other counties who might want to have labor assistance for community projects.

Hatfield said that there are a number of rules that the inmates must obey or they will be automatically eliminated from the program. The rules include such items as the prohibition against alcohol, drugs, profanity and visiting on the job with relatives or friends. The workers will not be permitted to sit on private docks or in/on any private vehicles. Any disrespect, arguing, fighting or non-performance of an assigned job will be cause for immediate dismissal.

County To Landscape Courthouse Property

Crawford County commissioners have agreed to spend up to $4,000 for landscaping the County Building.

The allocation of funds was made after a discussion about the need to make the building approach more of a showplace for visitors and to cooperate with the Community Self Improvement Project in beautification of the city.

The expenditure will include the recontouring of the island approach to the building with soil, gravel and treated wood. It will also include the planting of annuals and perennial plants to provide a continuous blaze of color. The expenditure will assure that professional assistance will be available each year to maintain the elegant appearance of the grounds.

Commissioners were also provided with some seemingly contradictory information about the proposed new Medical Control Authority, (MCA) run by Mercy Hospital. Commissioner Larry Mattis attended a meeting held recently by the hospital appointed board for the MCA. He said that it appeared to be a continuation of the first meeting held by the committee where the fact that an MCA is a certainty was automatic.

The commissioners have expressed concern about provisions of the Michigan State Department of Public Health approved regulations which give the emergency room personnel at the hospital control over which ambulance service and what personnel can carry people with specific illnesses. Commissioners have indicated that the implementation of the MCA could put the county ambulance out of business. They said that the ambulance came about through many fund raisers and donations from the community and abolishment of the service would make many citizens unhappy.

Meanwhile Tony Doremire, director of the Ambulance Service, told the commissioners that he had been invited to a meeting with Mercy Hospital Grayling-Cadillac President Robert Maher and James Packard, vice president of Planning and Marketing. He said that the two officials expressed concern over some of the provisions of the regulations governing the operation of the MCA. Doremire said that the two hospital officials want to stall implementation of the MCA for a while to further study the rules. Commissioners appeared to be content to wait until the next MCA meeting set for June 24 to see what develops in the functioning of the authority.

On another matter, commissioners were told that the cleanup of brush along the right-of-way on the south I-75 Expressway had been conducted by the Crawford County Road Commission employees without charge to the county. The brush was the result of clearing a route last winter for a snowmobile trail along the right-of-way to Four Mile Road. Part of the conditions for permitting the trail on the expressway property was that the county be responsible for clearing the brush. The Michigan Department of Transportation had given the county until May 20 to clean up the brush or they intended to do the job and charge the county. Commissioners expressed appreciation to the Road Commission and the employees for helping them out in what could have been a costly situation.

Grayling Fish Hatchery Chairman Bob Smock talked to the commissioners about the financial status of the operation. He noted that a number of donations had been received from the Grayling Boosters Club, Big Creek Club and others. He said that the Knights of Columbus sponsored a Fish Fry to benefit the hatchery and it was a huge success with about $450 added to the hatchery treasury.

In a separate statement, Smock asked the commissioners to back a move by a number of civic organizations to install a sidewalk on North Down River Road. He pointed out to the board that the children who had to walk along the road to reach the Little League Baseball Park were in danger. He also suggested that it would benefit the traffic to and from the hatchery.

The commissioners advised him to obtain written requests from the other organizations interested in the project in order to show more backing when the Crawford County Road Commission is approached about permission to pour the sidewalk. At the same time the commissioners unanimously passed a resolution supporting the idea. Smock said that he did not believe financing would be a problem because interested organizations will help to pay the bill. It was suggested that a bicycle-sized run might be attached to the side of the bridge across the East Branch so that it is safer for children there. The entire matter will be brought to the attention of the Road Commission in the near future.

CALKINS TO RETIRE — Mary Ann Calkins, attendance officer and secretary to the counselor at the Grayling Middle School, is retiring at the end of this school year. Mrs. Calkins has 18 years of service with the Crawford AuSable School District, coming in contact with hundreds of students and parents throughout her years in the school district. She always has a smile for everyone and a sincere interest in the welfare of the students. She has worked tirelessly and efficiently during her 18 years and the staff and students would like to wish her the best in her retirement years. (Picture by Chuck Kolb)

BOOSTERS GIVE $1000 — Grayling Booster Club board member John Alef gives Fish Hatchery manager Howard Hatfield $1000 to buy trout for the Kids Fishing Section. Trout are planted throughout fishing season in the Kids Section from the fish hatchery to the junction of the East Branch and Mainstream.

DNR Open House, Tours Planned June 7

On Sunday, June 7, the DNR will host an open house at the offices by the old fish hatchery. The office will be open for visitors from 1:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. Several resource professionals will be available to answer questions and to demonstrate methods and tools used to manage our natural resources. Those resource experts available will be foresters, fire officers, recreation specialists, fisheries technicians, and public access site supervisor. Equipment available for viewing will include fire fighting trucks and tractors, snowmobile trail groomer, and many hand tools used in resource management work. Refreshments will also be served.

A guided hiking tour will also be offered on the new Mason Tract Pathway near the South Branch of the AuSable River. Tours are scheduled at 1:00 p.m. and 3:00 p.m., and will leave from Canoe Harbor Campground. Frequent stops will be included, and some of the history of the area and current and planned forestry and wildlife practices will be explained. Identification of trees, flowers, wildlife and other items of interest will be offered.

To promote recreational opportunities involving our natural resources, the DNR is offering several "free use" days during the June 6-8 weekend. Free day use entrance to all State Parks will be available, and free camping on Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights in all State Forest Campgrounds is offered. Also, free fishing for everyone (no license required) has been scheduled for Saturday and Sunday. If you haven't been fishing in a few years, now is the time to try it again without having to buy a license. Boating access fees on area access sites such as Houghton Lake will be lifted during the weekend.

Rare Bird Tours In Grayling Area

Starting in mid-May each year hundreds of wildlife enthusiasts from throughout the United States and some foreign countries journey to Michigan hoping to see a Kirtland's warbler. This small, colorful songbird is an endangered species, and nests only in areas of the northern part of Lower Michigan.

To protect the habitat and assure maximum nesting success, public entry into the areas is not allowed from May 1 to August 15 each year. Warbler watchers may seek to see the bird and view nesting areas only by participating in guided tours conducted by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and the U.S. Forest Service.

This year free tours will depart from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources Field Office at Grayling. The tours will begin May 15 and will end July 4. The Grayling tour will be offered at 7:00 a.m. and 11:00 a.m.

Michael DeCapita, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service biologist at East Lansing, points out that an actual sighting of a Kirtland's warbler is not guaranteed. The average date when the first warbler arrives at the nesting sites is May 12; the latest recorded date of the first arrival is May 20. Thus, the chance of seeing the bird during the early guided tours is less than optimum, says DeCapita, adding that the best period for seeing the warbler is during late May and the month of June. The chance of a sighting diminishes after July 1 because the birds are essentially finished nesting and thus are less active and less vocal.

DeCapita says that participants are encouraged to bring binoculars or spotting scopes. He adds that the playing of recorded warbler singing is not allowed, and special efforts will not be made to accommodate photographers. The tours are conducted to minimize disturbance.

Tour guides prefer small groups because they create less disturbance, and participants are more likely to see the bird. No reservations are necessary for individuals or small groups.

Last year over 1000 wildlife enthusiasts representing 34 states, Washington, D.C. and two foreign countries participated in the guided tours during the nesting season.

Big burly Rock McFarley walked into the bar and saw his friend A.D. already sitting at a table waiting for him.

"Hey you big jerk," A.D. called out. "Sit down and take a load off. What's so important you needed to talk?"

"I don't know if I can go through with this," Big Rock was nervous. "But I have to tell someone."

"Oh God," A.D. thought to himself. "This doesn't sound good."

"I can't keep it to myself any longer A.D.," Rock said. "I'm coming out of the closet. If big-time Hollywood stars can admit they have it, someone in Crawford County shouldn't be afraid to go public."

Rock leaned toward A.D. and whispered, "I'm a gardener and I've been gardening for the last four years."

A.D. was skeptical. "You are a gardener? In Crawford County? Nice try Rock. You're not that dumb."

"No, it's true. I can't help myself," said Rock.

"God, the last four years have been miserable. Last year frost killed my plants three months in a row in June, July, and August. Frost would wipe me out and I figured it would be safe to plant again — and then Bam! Ruined again. Two years ago, rabbits and a groundhog ate everything above ground in my garden. I break my back planting seeds, hoeing, and watering to fatten up the wild animals. Three years ago it was the bugs that ate everything. Four years ago I didn't water enough and the sandy soil and a drought left me with nothing to show for my efforts. It's been a nightmare," Rock started to sob a bit remembering the ruined gardens.

A.D. looked around quickly to see if anyone noticed big Rock start to cry. "Easy Rock, easy. You can beat this thing. Maybe counseling would help."

"I don't know," Rock sighed. "It's just been getting worse. You know what I did in April?"

"Rock, you didn't let the early spring fool you?"

Rock nodded his head. "I was in such a fever I doubled the size of my garden. Now I'm up late at night trying to cover up hundreds of plants when frost threatens."

"Why can't I just be like a normal person?" Rock asked A.D. "Everyone else looks at the predicted high temperatures for a summer day. I'm always checking the predicted lows worrying about frost."

"And everyone else likes weeks of hot sunny days in the summer. They go to the beach and have fun. I'm out in my garden pulling weeds, mulching, and hoping for a good soaking rain," said Rock.

"What a curse to have," A.D. said. He thought a moment and then moved his chair a little farther from Rock. "Hey Rock, you don't think this gardening illness is contagious do you?"

The first-ever Avalanche Lotto Contest is still open for entries until 1 p.m. Friday, June 5. The idea for the contest started after reading stories about lottery winners who couldn't handle being rich. Instead of enjoying all the money they won, they claimed the money just brought them grief and sorrow.

The Avalanche Lotto Contest is an attempt to show that Avalanche readers could somehow manage to be happy if they won a million dollars. We would like to hear from you on what you would do if you won a million dollars. Please keep your entries to 50-150 words and mail them to the Avalanche Lotto Contest, P.O. Dear Editor: As a parent and working mother I would like to express my opinion regarding the sales conducted by the schools, individual classes, and other non-profit organizations.

The idea of making money to fund different projects is good and I have no objections to that regard. However, I do believe there are much better ways of making money than trying to sell items that in my opinion are not worth the amount of money you have to pay. I realize that these items are priced so that the organization selling can make some money, but if I am going to pay any money at all, I would rather that all of it were going to the organization I am trying to support instead of to some company that I do not know or care about.

I also object to the idea of having children go door to door to sell and although I have on occasion taken the sale brochure to work (as the directions on the brochures suggest) I often feel like I am imposing on my fellow workers. I also hate the messing around with deliveries and trying to collect money for items that people have ordered.

What happened to the good old days of car washes, bake sales, etc. I would gladly donate baked goods, take my car in to be washed or even take my family to a dinner to support an organization or if unable to do so I would at least donate money.

I am sure that I am not the only person in Grayling and Crawford County who feels this way and it's time we speak up.

Sincerely,
Penny Shepherd

Dear Editor: I am writing a letter concerning a person's civil rights in Grayling Schools. There are many students who harass, threaten, and cause humiliation on purpose towards former students who move back to Grayling. This could cause very emotional problems for some students. When some students are under stress they can do a worse job on their school work. This problem can cause grades to go down, and it's all because the administration of this school insists not to do anything concerning this. Students continue to harass and threaten former students, and will continue to do it until someone does something about it.

I am speaking as a student who has suffered from this harassment, and personally I am very upset.

The problems this can cause is to interfere with a student's civil rights. If we are not able to do a good job on our school work, and because some do not come to school because they are scared, then that is affecting our right to learn. Isn't that what school was made for?

Sincerely,
(name withheld by request)

Why Did We Fight in 'Nam?

Last night I took my family to see "Platoon." I told my kids this would be a good history lesson. I wasn't prepared for all the questions afterwards. The biggest one being "why?" Why did we fight in Vietnam, Mommy?

In my family we almost never talk about Uncle Phillip, who was blown to bits in Vietnam at the age of only 21. They put together an artificial body adding his dog tags. As a child I was not permitted to see the gruesome of what he looked like in his casket. Can someone please tell my WHY?

Sincerely,
Terri L. Frischkorn

Senior Prom Was A Sight to Behold

To Whom it May Concern: I am so pleased that I feel that I must tell the whole world. I just have to commend the Grayling Mercy Manor staff and director for a job beyond the call of duty. On May 15, I was invited to attend a Senior Prom for the residents of the Manor. I can not tell you how uplifting and moving this experience was.

Do you ever wonder what makes life so hectic, different, wonderfully beautiful? I am sure this relationship I had is the kind of thing people mean when they talk of the "spice of life"....the joy of living. The whole evening was just lovely, the dance captivating and the company charming...just a tiny bit of real life, but so delightful.

Seeing these older people all dressed up and having a wonderful time made the coldest heart warm. The radio station WGRY set up a remote and played oldies but goodies, songs from long ago, but so meaningful to the people present.

God granted older people the power to accept the things they can not change, and to change the things they can...and the knowledge to know the difference. Wish we could all be that way, I learned a lot from being there. Imagine if you will, ladies all dressed up, hair done and make-up on. Men in suit and tie. A Real prom, which many I am sure never attended in their youth. When the Queen of the prom was chosen all were with tears in our eyes. Flowers presented and to all a good night. Many of the residents danced too... Some in wheel chair, others on their feet. Food was all created by the talented kitchen staff of Mercy Hospital... A sight to behold a work of art.

I'm sorry that the people from the Avalanche were not invited because this is a story to be covered next year. Many thanks to the residents and staff of Mercy Manor for letting me share in this experience with you. I am proud to say you are in our community. I love you all... and one of those pretty ladies was my mom.

Sincerely,
Robert F. Cole

What Happened To Good Old Fundraisers?

Dear Editor: As a parent and working mother I would like to express my opinion regarding the sales conducted by the schools, individual classes, and other non-profit organizations.

The idea of making money to fund different projects is good and I have no objections to that regard. However, I do believe there are much better ways of making money than trying to sell items that in my opinion are not worth the amount of money you have to pay. I realize that these items are priced so that the organization selling can make some money, but if I am going to pay any money at all, I would rather that all of it were going to the organization I am trying to support instead of to some company that I do not know or care about.

I also object to the idea of having children go door to door to sell and although I have on occasion taken the sale brochure to work (as the directions on the brochures suggest) I often feel like I am imposing on my fellow workers. I also hate the messing around with deliveries and trying to collect money for items that people have ordered.

What happened to the good old days of car washes, bake sales, etc. I would gladly donate baked goods, take my car in to be washed or even take my family to a dinner to support an organization or if unable to do so I would at least donate money.

I am sure that I am not the only person in Grayling and Crawford County who feels this way and it's time we speak up.

Sincerely,
Penny Shepherd

Roscommon Asks For Uncollected Portion of Ambulance Bills

Dear Editor:

We would like to respond to the statements made by Jeannette Kitchen at the March 26, 1987, Crawford County Board of Commissioners meeting and the article printed in the Avalanche regarding Roscommon County ambulance service to South Branch Township residents.

The type of service we provide Crawford County is NEVER reciprocated. Crawford County does not come into Roscommon County to pick up our patients which we do on a regular basis in South Branch Township. The service that Jeannette Kitchen refers to (Roscommon County residents visiting and hospitalized at Mercy being transported to other hospitals) would be provided to Crawford County residents if visiting or traveling through Roscommon County.

Roscommon County is only asking that Crawford

County be responsible for the uncollected portion of the bills of their South Branch residents serviced by Roscommon County ambulances.

Harlan Robinson,

Reverend Disputes Claims In Bible Speaks Column

Dear Editor:

Your May 21, 1987, edition carried "The Bible Speaks" column by Pastor Barnett of Calvary Baptist Church, Grayling, MI. Pastor Barnett should have done his homework before he wrote for the public press.

Since two-thirds of Barnett's column quotes from a recent book by Malachi Martin, let's zero in on that.

Barnett introduces Martin as a "conservative Roman Catholic authority." Malachi Martin is not now, and never has been, a Roman Catholic authority, conservative or otherwise. He is an ex-Jesuit who has made a living by writing spurious books for years. In the current book, which Barnett quotes in large chunks, Jesuit reviewers have found more than 50 erroneous statements regarding names, date, places and mis-quotes supposedly made by a lot of people. Malachi Martin is not a reliable source.

In a recent TV talk show, Martin said he is a priest in good standing with the Archdiocese of New York. He is not, Martin lied. So much for his credibility.

If Pastor Barnett is sincere in quoting reliable sources of Catholic teaching, there are better books available than Martin's and I would be happy to supply them.

The question is this: Why would Pastor Barnett do this? Was this a deliberate attempt at Catholic bashing or does he really believe those incredible statements? I admit I don't know.

I can understand your editorial disclaimer at the end of his column that "allegations contained in the column are not verified." Any intelligent reader must feel the same.

Sincerely,
Rev. I.J. Mikulski

Cheers and Jeers

By Don Geiss

CHEERS — To Sheriff Harold "Bum" Hatfield and Bob Smock for coming up with a plan to use county jail inmates to clean up the AuSable River. We wonder if all of the critics who want to tell residents how to manage their riverfront property would bother to lend a hand to the project.

JEERS — To a host of people who refuse to work on the Milltown festival and leave a worthwhile part of the program — The Children's parade out because of lack of a leader.

CHEERS — To Bob Smock, the Little League and Boosters Club for leading the way on a plan to lay a sidewalk on North Down River Road to the Little League Field.

JEERS — To members of the Chamber of Commerce for not volunteering to operate the chamber office when there is no employee available.

CHEERS — To the Grayling Community Self Improvement Project for its continued work to beautify the city. It is hard to believe that merchants will not volunteer to water and weed the flowers after they are planted.

CHEERS — To Bob Ruddy, jail inmates and volunteers for painting the caboose and preparing the museum for the summer season. Come to think of it, what a fine job has been done on making the Museum a showpiece.

JEERS — To the people who put out bags of trash at pickup points throughout the county many days before the appropriate pickup date. For that matter the folks who put out the trash in the city too many days ahead of time and then leave out the empty cans do not deserve any pat on the back either.

CHEERS — To the two co-generation companies who will in the near future put 30 plus more people to work. AND THEN —

JEERS — To the folks that are saying the plants will never be constructed here. If our memory serves us correctly many of the same people said that Weyerhaeuser would never build a plant here.

NOW IF THE leaders of the Chamber of Commerce, Grayling Community Self Improvement and Grayling Promotional Association could get together and plot out a five year plan (we'd settle for one year) where all of the groups would cooperate for the benefit of the community, things would be almost perfect.

Herald only hastened Hart's dropout

by Richard Millman

Reaching into my hypothetical mailbox the other day, I came up with this one:

"DEAR NEWSPAPER COLUMN WRITING PERSON: You have been strangely silent in your newspaper column about the Gary Hart deal and how the Miami Herald went out to get him. What do you think about all of that stuff? Don't you have any opinions? Or are you afraid to let us know what you think? Signed: JUST WONDERING"

Well, sure, Jus-Won, I have opinions about Gary Hart and the Miami Herald caper. Heck, I have opinions about almost everything. And I'm not too bashful in letting other folks know what these opinions are, either.

Generally speaking, I think most folks think "good riddance" and I agree on that score. Mr. Hart was the clear front runner in the Democratic race, merely because of name recognition alone. He had run once before, and you put a little scare into Walter Mondale, if you will recall. And he's pretty much been running for president ever since.

AS A FRONT RUNNER, Mr. Hart was the target of anyone who wanted to take a shot at him, in either party — and even from non-partisan independents, too. And shoot away they did, too.

I don't think Gary Hart had the right stuff to win the presidency, or even the Democratic nomination. As some cynical political observers are inclined to comment about unfavorable candidates, way down deep he was shallow...all tinsel and no roots, so to speak. And sooner or later, this trait would have caught up with him.

Miss Donna Rice merely hastened the inevitable, in my opinion, and The Miami Herald added a bit of dispatch to the inevitable process of Hart elimination.

Other than that, what can I say about Gary Hart that would add anything to the public knowledge? Not much.

NOW, WHAT ABOUT THE OTHER part of this public discussion? What about The Miami Herald, and its role in Hart elimination?

As a life-long journalist, I'm not proud of what the Herald did, or how they did it.

If I were running The Herald news department — or the news department of any other newspaper or electronic news outlet — I would not send my staff out to stake out the residence of anyone to see if he was playing around behind the back of his spouse...or vice versa, gender-wise, either.

I don't think that is good journalism in the first place, and it is an entirely distasteful exercise in the second place. I don't agree with that whole concept of what some people would like to call "investigative reporting." In my mind, it's more like stirring around in the mud.

Now, given that personal approach, my second criticism would be that the Herald did a sloppy job of doing what they did. Who could believe the findings after more details revealed the haphazard and incomplete way this assignment was carried out? The Herald "investigators" left entirely too many empty holes in their scenario.

IN A NUTSHELL, I wouldn't have done what the Herald did in the first place; and in the second place, if I would have done it at all, I would have done it right. I would have covered all eventualities, thoroughly and completely and for much longer than a single night; and then I would have sought out and reported the other side of the picture, too.

Maybe I'm a journalistic prude of sorts. But heck, I didn't even approve of many of the things The Washington Post did in uncovering Watergate, and then in following that prize-winning story.

What the heck — meeting a secret informant in an underground garage, and relying on lack of denial as confirmation. In my view, that was another distasteful exercise in journalism in many respects. But I'm in a distinct minority among my peers on that score... and I'm afraid all too many of my fellow journalists agree with what the Miami Herald did, and even with how they did it, too.

In my view, freedom of the press is much, much too important and valuable than to bring it into any hint of disrepute by questionable use of the investigative means at our disposal.

SO THERE YOU HAVE IT, Just Wondering.

You asked your question and you got your answer.

One of these days, I'll get into a discussion of the real issue raised by the Hart-Herald caper — and that goes to the question of how much privacy and consideration does the public — and therefore, the press — owe to those who seek public office.

Now there's a real dilemma.

Students Study Erosion Problems in County

Grayling High School students have a learning experience by doing erosion control studies and three of them received prizes for reports written to solve specific local erosion problems.

Environmental Science Teacher Mike Wieland annually assigns a paper to his students which involves a thorough study of a location showing serious erosion. The studies this year were centered on the Mainstream of the AuSable River, Big Creek, and Barker Creek, Wieland said.

The AuSable River Property Owners Association funds prize money for the students who have outstanding reports, Wieland said. The three students receiving prizes this year were 1st place - Eric Swanders, 2nd place, a tie between Teresa Ferguson and Steve LaVigne. Swanders won $25 for his paper and Ferguson and LaVigne will split the second and third prizes of $15 and $10.

Wieland commented that the students in the class are asked to identify and locate the problem area with state and township maps. He said that the students explain the cause of the problem, a possible solution, and identified the local and/or state agency to correct the problem.

Summer Jobs Benefit Teens

With the summer sun come summer jobs. Today many teens and grade school children work to fill idle summer and after-school hours. How important is it for youths to work? What are the benefits and what are the disadvantages to working?

"Studies have shown that kids who help around the house or work outside of the home have a higher self-esteem than those who don't," says Chris Nelson, Extension Specialist in human development.

Research on the impacts of work experience on adolescent development noted eight benefits experienced by some youths in their jobs: sustained exposure to a particular career, exposure to adult work attitudes and habits, interaction with adults, development of responsible behavior, mastery of non-classroom skills and problem-solving techniques, learning appropriate citizenship skills and attitudes, increased academic motivation, and lifelong learning skills. Benefits reaped by any particular youth from a work experience depend on various factors such as age, sex, race, place of residence, and type of work.

"It's important for parents to help children and teens pick up jobs that will provide them with a variety of opportunities for learning," Nelson says. "Actually, some household chores are more complex and involve more planning and organizing skills than some jobs outside of the home, which are more rote, non-skilled and unstimulating. Home jobs sometimes offer more chances for growth and responsibility."

A University of Rochester study suggests that teens engage in varying job activities of complexity but few are of high complexity. Teens who have jobs often engage in more complex activities during their leisure time. The study says many domestic and leisure activities, such as cooking, sports participation and playing a musical instrument, involve more complex and potentially valuable skills in dealing with data, people and things than routine jobs do. The skill content involved in these activities is complex cognitively, socially and physically, whereas low-level jobs such as mowing lawns or golf caddying are less complex and offer less mental stimulation and skill development.

Nelson says there's concern about some young people's working so many hours that they have little time for schoolwork and social functions that are important for intellectual and emotional growth.

"Much personal growth can be achieved by being involved in sports and social activities," Nelson says. Adolescence is a time of identity formation, she points out. Prematurely imposing adult responsibilities can stifle identity formation by restricting opportunities

Alef's Speech Gives Positive Feelings About Local Business Climate

Jack Alef of the Grayling State Bank was the guest speaker at the Grayling Promotional Association meeting held at England's Table on Tuesday noon, May 26.

Alef spoke of the changes in Grayling since he arrived in the 50's and the economic impact that the changes have had on the community.

His talk was a positive comment on all of the good things that have happened and are happening in the community and he praised the GPA for the positive things that they have been doing for the community. His belief is that there are a lot of other people in the community that would also like to take part in activities. He also spoke on the impact the National Guard has on the area and urged attendance at the receptions for the Guard so that there is better rapport with them. He left the group with a good feeling about the community and the things that they have done to enhance the area.

The Grayling Milltown Festival Buttons are now starting to be on sale at local businesses. The button was designed by Marjory Shippe in a contest sponsored by the GPA. The buttons are only one dollar.

The committees of the Grayling Promotional Association that are working on the Milltown Parade scheduled for Saturday, July 25, met at the home of Donna Thomson on Tuesday evening, May 26. All members attending are calling and writing people who have participated in past parades or have shown an interest in taking part and are not yet signed up. The GPA is still looking for more participants for the parade and are urging businesses and organizations to make plans for floats and they are also looking for more antique cars to be on display at the Courthouse during the day and then take part in the parade at 3:00 p.m.

The Grand Marshal of the parade has been chosen and will be announced at a later date. Also taking part will be a special musical group which should be enjoyed by everyone. More information on them will be published also.

Resource Review

There are a number of actions which are prohibited on state owned lands. Some of these are fairly well known. For example: a firewood permit is required to remove dead or down trees for personal use; no cutting of green trees; and no operation of a motorized vehicle off of an established trail; among others.

Other actions which are prohibited may not be so well known. Certain trees and species of wild flowers are specifically protected. "Christmas trees, evergreen boughs or other trees, shrubs or vines or any of the following native plants: trailing arbutus, bird's foot violet, climbing bittersweet, club mosses, flowering dogwood, all Michigan holly, North American lotus, pipsissewa, and all native orchids, trilliums and gentians" are strictly protected.

It is unlawful to cut, remove, possess or transport such trees, plants or shrubs unless proof that they were lawfully obtained is produced. Such proof may take the form of a bill-of-sale, sales receipt, permit or proof of ownership of the land from which they were obtained.

Persons selling these plants must be able to show lawful receipt of them and furnish proper documentation to the purchaser.

Vikings Fall Short Of District Finals

Rogers City avenged an earlier doubleheader loss to Grayling by knocking the Vikings out of state tournament action 3-2 last Friday.

Grayling used come-from-behind tactics in two pre-district wins but it didn't work at the Kalkaska field against Rogers City. The Vikings overcame one deficit but failed to overcome the 3-2 deficit.

Rogers City opened the scoring in the first inning on three singles. Jeff Palmer struck out the side but Rogers City scored one run.

In the top of the third, Steve Lehti singled and Jeff Wolcott walked. They moved up on a wild pitch. John Meagher then hit a ground ball to the second baseman who threw home to try to get Lehti. The catcher couldn't handle the low throw and Wolcott also scored. Meagher wound up on second with no outs but the heart of the Viking batting order couldn't score him.

Rogers City tied the game at 2-2 in the bottom of the third with a single, wild pitch, and a double. Then in the fifth, Rogers City scored with two out and runners on first and third. The runner on first broke for second and got caught in a run-down while the runner on third broke for home. The Vikings were familiar with the trick play but weren't able to stop the runner on third from scoring.

Jeff Palmer went the distance in the loss striking out five and giving up two earned runs without issuing a walk.

Lehti led Grayling with two hits. David Somerville had a double, Palmer a single, and John Kinnee also had a single.

Viking coach Fred Wolcott said the game was well-played and Grayling had opportunities with men in scoring position but couldn't get the big hit. The loss dropped Grayling's record to 13-6 for the year.

Par for the Course

By Fay Bovee

Walt Nowak joined the exclusive club of golfers who have made a Hole-In-One when he aced the #8 hole on Tuesday night, May 26, 1987, in regular league play. Walt used a 4-wood to drop the ball in the cup on the 150-yard hole. Witnessing the event were his partner, Bob McIntosh and their opponents, Jinx Parkinson and Luke Petrosky. Another foursome who were having problems with the river and the woods on that hole had waved them on and were also fortunate to be able to see the ball drop in the hole.

Wednesday morning, May 27, turned out to be an extremely warm morning for golf, the beginning of what seems to be a "very hot spell." In spite of that there were some good games turned in with Jeannette Kitchen taking low of 48 in A flight, Mary Sidwell and Jeanne Thompson with a 53 in B and Carole Eckardt with a 56 in C. Low net went to Jeannette with a 31, Jeanne with a 32 in

B and Carole with a 22 in C. Low putts were 15 for Mileta Taylor in A, Ann DuBois and Ricki Stahl with 16 in B, and Pat Jackmann with 16 in C.

The Couple's Sunday Golf Party is scheduled for this Sunday.

The Monday night ladies league began on June 1, 1987. We had 43 ladies enjoying golf on our first outing.

Prizes were awarded to Donna Pottorff for low score of 49; low putts to Phyllis Scheer, chip-ins to Phyllis Scheer and Shirley Parker.

Doodles From The Tall Timber

Wendell L. Hoover, Park Interpreter

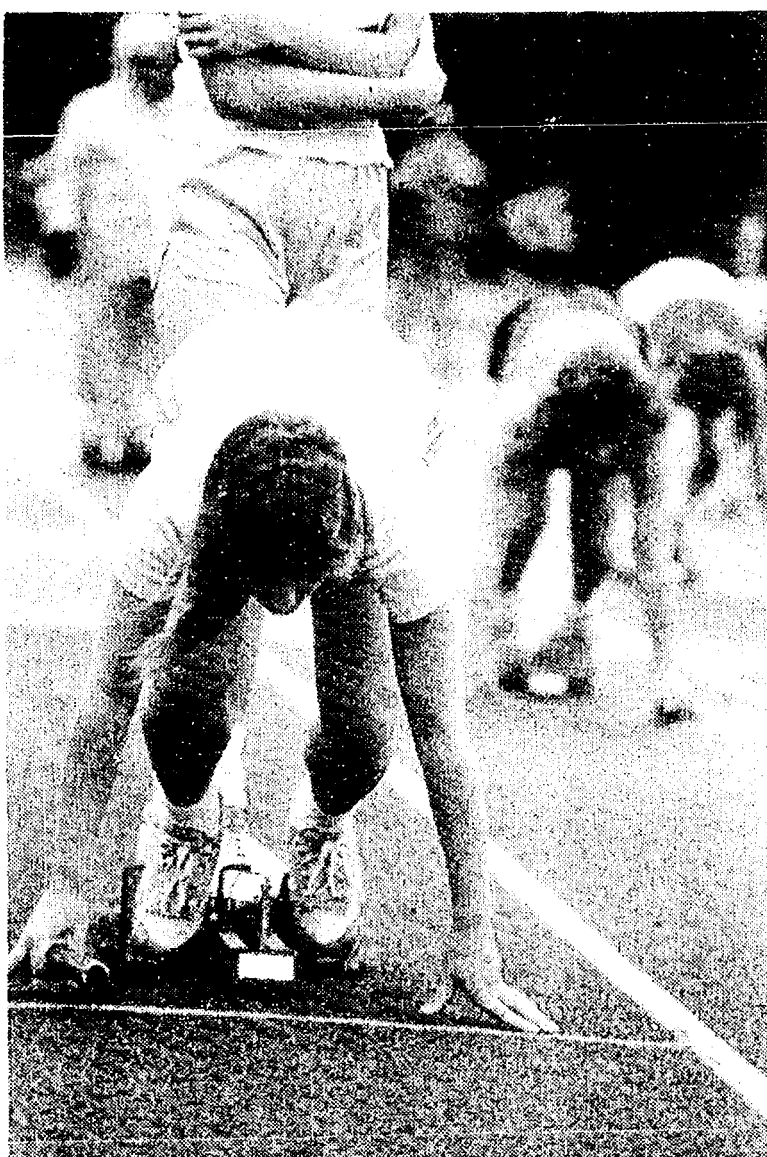

The month that is spring to me is all but over and the first major holiday of the new summer is a thing of the past. With June just around the corner I would like to remind you to two area happenings that might be of interest. Both are activities that are family oriented and also might be a way to entertain out of town guests.

On the 7th of June Hartwick Pines State Park along with the other State Parks of Michigan will have open house. The usual vehicle permit will not be required for entry nor will you need a fishing license to fish our Bright and Glory Lakes. The day will provide an opportunity for you to see what we have to offer so why not come out for a visit.

We will be celebrating our 60th birthday as a State Park and to commemorate Mrs. Hartwick's donation we will be having cake and coffee and ice cream for the kids. In addition, we will be scheduling guided tours through the Pines, so if you haven't ever taken an interpretive walk this would be a good time. We are planning tours at 11 a.m., 1 p.m., 2 p.m. and 3:30 p.m.

I will mention briefly that the 20th and 21st of June will be the two days for the 6th Annual Old Time Days.

There will be more details later, but we hope you mark those two days on your calendar.

Bits of Talk by Fay Bovee

Phyllis and Bill Scheer have returned home from the winter spent in Florida. Enroute they stopped in Beverly Hills, Florida, to visit friends, and also in Cincinnati they stopped to visit friends from Florida.

Susan and Herb Stephan enjoyed a ten-day vacation. They drove to St. Louis, Missouri, to sight-see, then to Garland, Texas, where they visited his brother and wife, Brian and Patty Stephan. They did some sight-seeing, saw a Tiger ballgame in Arlington, and came home by way of Look-out Mountain and Memphis where they visited Grace-land.

Don and Ernestine Palmer were in Battle Creek last week where he was the elected delegate from the Grayling Lodge F. & A.M. #356 for the annual communication of the Grand Lodge of the State of Michigan. Erin Hickey accompanied them as she was a guest of honor at the dinner held at the Kellogg Center on Wednesday evening. She is the first recipient of the scholarship by the Grayling Lodge and the Michigan Masonic Foundation. The Palmers also went to Kalamazoo to visit his son, Mike Palmer and family.

On Friday and Saturday about ten couples from the Methodist Church were at Camp Kinawind, northwest of Vanderbilt on Lake Louise, where they framed in a cabin for the United Methodist Camp.

This week starts the column out with a plea to someone who has a left-over double strength glass patio door that could be donated to Howard Hatfield at the Fish Hatchery for his Milltown Parade float. The fish hatchery operates on a very tight budget and spending money for material for a float is beyond the budget. It seems Howard had a great float for the 4th of July last year but the glass door that he used was damaged. Anyone out there have one to donate to Howard? It would be greatly appreciated.

Mrs. Eva Strong has returned from her winter spent at Englewood, Florida. Enroute home she stopped at granddaughter, Kathie and husband, John Stock's in Rochester. A grandson and wife, Ron and Barb Luter and son, Erin, of Kalamazoo, brought her home. The family all spent the Memorial weekend at the Owl's Roost on the Mainstream with Mickey and Bob Strong of Alpena. Also visiting were Stephanie and Rob Mock of Howell.

Someone asked that I add to the obituary notice of Lillian Jordan Kalahar, who died at Provincial House, Midland on April 29, 1987. Her marriage to Lawrence Kalahar on February 1, 1947 was performed at St. Mary's church, Grayling by the Rev. Fr. Francis Branigan. Also surviving besides her immediate family is her only sister, Mrs. Evelyn Lozon of Grayling.

Mrs. Gerd Kelly returned to Grayling after spending several weeks in Marietta, Georgia, visiting her daughter and family. She also visited in Chicago enroute home and her sister and husband brought her home. They spent several days visiting the Mike and Sandy Fleming family before returning to Chicago.

Evelyn and Ab Sager returned from Florida to their home on the Mainstream on Wednesday before Memorial Day. On Thursday, they were treated to some Michigan weather when the ground was covered with hail for nearly an hour. Ab picked up a half dozen golf ball-size hail stones and put them in the freezer. They were welcomed home over the long weekend by their son, Ralph from Walled Lake, their daughter and husband, Shirley and Leonard Kraatz and a granddaughter and husband, Jill and Randy Kreger of Saginaw.

Al and Lois Kesteloot spent four days in Gatlinburg, Tenn. visiting Al and Lois Critcher and family. Also Alvin's sister, Pauline, and husband, Sandy, came from Virginia.

John and Carolyn Rolfe saw a bear at the 242 Exit along I-75 Sunday. It was near the old Amoco station there.

Don Leslie has returned to Florida after spending two weeks with his Mother at AuSable Acres and his son in Grayling. He also visited his family in Mio.

Circuit Court Dispositions

Appearing before the Honorable Alton T. Davis, Friday, May 22:

Kevin Andrew Whitehouse, formerly of England, was sentenced on a charge of Malicious Destruction of Property Over $100.00. He received 24 months probation, 12 months in the County jail with credit given for 119 days served (6 months to be served immediately and the remainder being held in abeyance). He must also pay $400.00 costs, $550.00 attorney fees and restitution to the victims and insurance company. He was arrested by the Grayling City Police Department.

Kevin Shawn Sheedy, an inmate with the Michigan Department of Corrections, was arraigned on a charge of Breaking and Entering. Sheedy was charged following a complaint of a break-in of a local residence. The investigation was conducted by the Crawford County Sheriff department.

Vos and Mrs. Faye Gallagher.

President Margie Harwood called the meeting to order. The Homemakers' Creed was read. Plans for the July 4th sale were made.

Election of officers was held: Area Chairman, Velda Marshall, President, Kitty Pellegrini, Vice President, Mildred Johnson, Secretary, Hazel Koernke, Treasurer, Joyce Mullin. All "Program of Work" Chairmen will retain their present positions.

It was decided to continue Bingo at Timberview Village except June, July and August. Those holding Bingo for them in May: Cora Davis, Margaret Cavanaugh, Mildred Johnson, Hazel Koernke.

A discussion was held relative to members attending College Week in June. The names of those attending will be given at the June meeting.

The Mystery Package was won by Mrs. Dorothy DeVos. Harry Honey brought Honey bees in a glass case and gave a very interesting discussion on them. They form a Society and the Queen Bee is the Ruler. The Worker bees clean the hive, bring the food, carry away the bees that die and eventually kick out the Drones when they tire of feeding and waiting on them.

Our next meeting will be Wed., June 10, at the Town Hall Pavilion. This will be a Potluck picnic. Please bring your own table setting. There will be a Silent Auction and a Plant exchange.

Senior Prom Delights Mercy Manor Residents

MEMORABLE NIGHT — King Ernie Potts will have lasting memories of the Senior Prom with his wife, Norma.

LIKE OLD TIMES — Edna and Joseph Reynolds enjoy dancing to a favorite tune.

Residents at Mercy Manor experienced the excitement of a big dance on May 15 when the annual "Senior Prom" was held in celebration of National Nursing Home Week. The ladies all donned their beautiful gowns and jewelry, while the gentlemen looked handsome in their best suits and ties. Friends and family joined in the evening of fun, highlighted by the crowning of the King and Queen of Mercy Manor for 1987.

Helen Clippert, who was crowned queen in 1986, crowned this year's queen, Evelyn Jameson. Mercy Manor's oldest resident at age 104, John Dare, handed over his king's crown to the 1987 king Ernie Potts.

"Getting all dressed up really makes you feel good," beamed Queen Evelyn.

The 3rd annual Senior Prom at Mercy Manor was organized by the Diversional Therapy Department under the direction of Laura Stephenson.

VISIT FROM THE QUEEN — Miss Grayling Julie Brooks hugs Mercy Manor resident Mabel Kemper during the Senior Prom.

ALL DRESSED UP — Thelma Madsen enjoyed the formal evening of dancing and entertainment with her mother, Leona Papendick.

MAY I HAVE THIS DANCE? — Auxiliary volunteer Robert Cole dances with resident Joan Bremer.

Child Crusade Planned Here

There will be a Children's Crusade at the Grayling Assembly of God Church beginning on Monday, June 8th, through Friday, June 12th from 6:00 p.m. until 8:30 p.m. each evening.

There will be Bible stories, crafts, puppets, gophers, a new and used store, prizes, and refreshments.

Scoliosis: kids at risk

When you bought a new pair of shoes for your child, did you look at the old ones? If they looked something like the run-down pair shown with this article, it could be a warning signal of Scoliosis.

And a visit to this clinic could be the most important trip your child will ever make. Why? Because a spinal check is the only means of diagnosing Scoliosis in its early stages.

In most cases, Scoliosis can be treated successfully without the use of braces, surgery or body casts, and preventative programs are important.

Scoliosis is abnormal curvature of the spine—a skeletal problem affecting children whose spines are growing. It is more prevalent in girls than boys.

It's a sneaky condition, because early symptoms usually aren't alarming: poor posture, slight back pain or discomfort. Untreated, Scoliosis produces varying degrees of skeletal abnormality, such as postural imbalance, tilted or protruding hip, dropped shoulder, slightly twisted neck. Ultimately, rib-cage deformity causing serious respiratory problems and heart damage can result.

But Scoliosis need not ruin your child's life. It responds readily to Chiropractic care. And Chiropractors, educated and trained specifically to diagnose and treat spinal abnormalities, are the best qualified health-care professionals to deal with this devastating condition.

CO-OP PICNIC — The M-W-F morning and afternoon classes of the Grayling Co-op Nursery enjoyed the merry-go-round at Hartwick Pines. Parents and children were attending the end-of-the-year picnic. After the children feasted on hot dogs and an array of food brought by the parents, they enjoyed a walk through the park to the logging camp (bottom photo).

Picture Person Program Theme Involved Fantasy

Fourth through Sixth Graders in Grayling and Frederic were involved this past school year in a nationally recognized volunteer Picture Person Program. Sponsored by the Crawford County Arts Council, this program brings art awareness along with creativity and fun into the classroom twice a month.

This year's series of prints had the theme "Fantasy" — covering several different styles and periods of art and including ten different artists. The students were allowed an opportunity to view each print in their own classroom for two weeks, think about it, comment on it and be involved in a short project evolving from it.

The children showed a great deal of creativity, thought, and enjoyment for the program. The classroom volunteers equally shared the students' enthusiasm.

Through the experience gained from this year's program and the cooperation of the classroom teachers and principals, the Crawford County Arts Council and volunteers hope that the program will continue with an even smoother and more organized system in place for the 1987-88 school year.

PICTURE PERSON — Two of Mrs. Akers' fourth grade students show their drawings while standing by a "Picture Person Poster."

We would like to thank Grace and Linda Goodale for the lovely bridal shower given for Kathryn Reisinger, approximately 30 guests attended.

Spanish Students Win Another First Place

By Nancy Lemmen
Spanish Dept. Instructor
Fourth year students from Grayling High School's Spanish Department won their 3rd first place award for 1986-87 Foreign Language Day competitions

with their Spanish skit,
"Blanca Nieves."

The skit, a humorous version of the fairy tale, "Snow White," and presented totally in Spanish, was directed by seniors Stacey Gizinski and Erin Hickey. Stacey and Erin also designed and constructed the set, which had to travel to all competitions on a crowded school bus and they played two of the lead roles.

The group's third win came at Central Michigan University's 15th Annual Foreign Language Day, held April 24, on the Mt. Pleasant campus. The skit won previously at Foreign Language Days at Northwestern Michigan College and Saginaw Valley State College.

Other performers in the skit from fourth year
Spanish were: seniors Chris Helton and Kim McDonough and juniors Tim Cook and Jeff Renaud. Drafted from third year Spanish classes were sophomores Dawn Elekonich, Cathy Hayes and Cathy Maule and from second year Spanish, junior Joe Francis and sophomore
Lori Dean.

A display portraying the life and works of Mexican muralist Diego Rivera won 2nd place honors. Students who entered this competition
included: Kevin Austin,
Tanya Latuszek, Dawn
Porath, Angela Ross, and Benjamin Vollmer, from first and second year classes.

Several first and second year students competed in a poetry reading competition, reciting a selection of poems

by the late Spanish writer,
Federico Garcia Lorca: Erin
Bindschatel, Anna
Hagemeister, Joanna
Myers, Heather Pelton, Dawn Porath, Angela Ross
and Wayne Sands.

Sophomore and second year student Jamie Montoya competed in the Song competition with a solo, "Via Dolorosa."

Other Spanish students who attended the event included: David Bentley, Corey Harmer, Brian Kern-

stock, John Jurkovich,
Teresa Matthews, Buck
Monforton, Melanie Ojala, Margarita Perez, Tim Per-nie, Hannah Peterson, Amy
Rochette, Becky Scott, Toye
Sheldon, Fred Shippy, Matt
Spencer and Heather Willoughby.

In addition to competitions in French, German and Spanish languages, students had opportunities to purchase foreign language

realia, observe college classes and visit displays.

The afternoon awards ceremony featured a dance performance by the CMU Orchestra Theatre, with dances from Latin America, France and Germany. One of the dancers in the program included GHS graduate and former Spanish student Shawn Lovely, who is also studying Spanish at the University.

SPANISH PERFORMERS — 1st row: Jamie Montoya, Kim McDonough, Erin Hickey, Lori Dean, Stacey Gizinski, Cathy Maule, Dawn Elekonich, Angela Ross; 2nd row: Chris Helton, Dawn Porath, Tanya Latuszek, Anna Hagemeister, Erin Bindschatel, Heather Pelton, Joanna Myers, Cathy Hayes, Benjamin Vollmer. Not pictured: Kevin Austin, Tim Cook, Joe Francis, Jeff Renaud, and Wayne Sands.

ART WORK ON DISPLAY — Bonnie Hatfield, a junior at G.H.S., recently had the honor of having one of her chalk drawings on display at Northwestern Michigan College in Traverse City. The college sponsors an annual competition among junior and senior high school art students in northern Mich. Some of her work is also presently on display at Grayling High School.

The Bible Speaks

From Calvary Baptist Church

WILL WE WIN?

Will our grandchildren live under Marxism, or will we have a religious revival in the United States of America? Do we have any people left who care enough to respond?

We could have given you facts from U.S. News and World Report about the extensive involvement of liberal Roman Catholic Priests in Latin American Marxist Revolutions. We could have quoted other conservative sources. We waited patiently until Malachi Martin wrote his latest book, "The Jesuits, The Society of Jesus and the Betrayal of the Roman Catholic Church." Just maybe an ex-Jesuit priest with Martin's credibility can break the silence. We quoted Humberto Belli last year telling the same thing from the position of an ex-Marxist Sandinista who taught guerrilla recruits in Nicaragua.

Detroit Free Press recently told the story of religious liberals marching on Washington in protest of Contra aid. Included in the article were Detroit's Central Methodist Church and Mt. Olivet United Methodist Church in Dearborn. One marcher seemed proud saying, "We're five years ahead of where we were in Vietnam." It appears many of those who support the Marxist with their money, must make sure Washington foreign policy does not cancel out their efforts. They were strangely silent when millions of tax dollars were sent a few years ago to help the Sandinistas win their Marxist revolution. They certainly question the ethics of the Reagan administration in the Iran/Contra affair for fighting Marxism illegally.

In Nicaragua, the test of being a Christian is being a liberal revolutionary. "Christian love" is shown by killing, robbing, and destroying capitalists. Remember the words of Father Ernesto Cardenal published by the World Council of Churches? "This is a revolution that carries a deep sign of Christian love. It is enough that you look at the faces of the young Sandinistas who carry weapons in our streets. In them there is no hatred, their look is clean, their eyes sing, and their hearts sing."

How will modernism and Marxism which are sweeping the schools, religious orders, and ranks of the Roman Catholic Church be treated by the Pope? This is the greatest threat ever faced by the church of Rome. Historically what has the Pope done? Remember the Vatican/Fascist Concordat signed with Mussolini in 1929? Remember the Vatican/Hitler Concordat signed in June, 1933? Remember the Vatican/Moscow Alliance signed in 1960? Is a guess even necessary? As the one world religious and political system of Revelation 17 and 18 forms, who will obey God's command of Rev. 18:4? "...Come out of her, my people, that ye be not partakers of her sins." (Hear "The Bible Speaks" at 12:15 p.m. Tuesday on WQON 100 FM).

GROW OR GO

A large crowd of family and friends had gathered for the celebration of their fiftieth wedding anniversary. The aging couple, dressed in their finest, celebrated the occasion with pomp and pageantry.

When the festivities slackened a bit, I chanced to ask them a question. "How did you make fifty years together?"

They smiled at each other. "Tell him," she said.

He started slowly, deliberately. "The day we married the old minister said to us, 'You have two choices as you try to build a life together: You can GROW or GO. The choice is up to you.'"

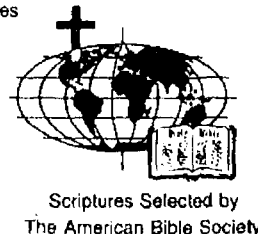

A big smile covered the 50-year groom's face. "We decided to GROW. To GO has never been an option for us. Oh, we've had tough times, but we've never been sorry about our decision."

The poet's invitation surfaced as the couple turned to greet more well-wishers:

"Come, GROW old along with me; the best is yet to be."

And so it is. So it is.

Wooten hosts The Stone Circle poets, open to the public, every Friday and Saturday evening in Kewadin beginning June 22.

Chicken Scare

Should you be worried about salmonella bacteria on chickens you buy at the supermarket? While some chicken is contaminated, it won't make you sick if the bird is fully cooked. Problems occur when other foods could be contaminated with the bacteria. This can happen when cooks don't wash their hands after working with raw chicken. Wood cutting boards can also be a problem. The crevices in the boards make it difficult to get them completely clean.

In its 41st summer, the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Higgins Lake Environmental School once again will offer four, week-long, "hands-on" environmental learning sessions in June, July and August to environmental educators and leaders.

The sessions will run: June 21-26: Michigan's Environment — A Look at the Issues, July 12-17: Environmental Education Learning Through Experience, July 19-24: Environmental Education and You, and August 9-14: Understanding Our Environment.

The classes will be geared to youth leaders (community, 4-H, scout), educators, members of environmental organizations, public officials and interested citizens.

"The program is unique in that it combines lecture and indoor classroom workshops and activities, held in the natural wooded setting of our school, with outdoor field studies, canoe and field trips," said DNR Environmental Education Specialist Barb Nichols.

"Especially appealing is the availability of scholarships and university credit offered to people attending these sessions," added Nichols. "Many organizations will provide scholarships for all or part of the $176 room and board costs, in addition, participants can earn from one to two university semester credits per session."

For a brochure on the learning sessions, registration, room and board, and additional information on scholarships and university credit, contact Barbara Nichols, DNR Public Affairs Office, P.O. Box 30028, Lansing, MI 48909/517-373-1214.

Exclusive Lines Add To Flo's Hallmark

By Don Geiss

When a store carries the name of the famous greeting card manufacturer, it is expected that it will be well stocked with that product but at Flo's Hallmark in the Grayling Mall items from exclusive decorator plates to wedding gifts also stand out.

In a fashion familiar to many local residents, Flo and Steve Hajek were living and working "down below" and wanted to move up north. Steve's parents owned a Hallmark store in Petoskey and so it seemed only natural that the younger folks look for an opening to purchase a similar operation. They settled on Grayling and a location that already had a good reputation for customer satisfaction.

In Chicago, Steve worked for Borg-Warner and Flo worked at Saks Fifth Avenue and taught at Northwestern University but the lure of the north where they had both begun life was too great.

On April 1, 1986, the new owners took over the store with a grand opening and ever since they have added exclusive lines and gained many more satisfied customers. Simply listing the products does not do justice to some of the amazing items available there but this reporter was enamored with some selected offerings.

"Find out what happened on your wedding day or birthday" was a sign that caught our eyes. The service turned out to be a computer into which is programmed history and trivia from between January 1, 1886, to December 31, 1986.

The machine prints out a page full of data about the particular day and year that is full of memories for the customer or someone dear to her (him).

Although it may date us, we found that Calvin Coolidge was president when we were born and there was no vice president. Buster Keaton was the best actor and one of the outstanding songs was "I'll See You In My Dreams." Our wedding anniversary was during the period when Harry Truman was president and one of the songs was "Mona Lisa." Many more interesting facts are related in the page full of typed information that one obtains for himself or a friend or relative. Famous people your age, cost of well known products, famous firsts, best book and best musical are just a few of the items which the computer feeds out on a unique page headed "The Birthday Times" (or) "The Anniversary Times."

Another exclusive line handled is that of the Bradford Collectors Plates. These plates come from most of the major European porcelain houses and from leading North American producers. They are decorative art plates that are produced in limited quantities for the purpose of collecting.

In addition to marketing the plates, Bradford is the world's largest trading center for buying and selling plates and publishes information about the collector's plate market. According to the Hajeks, after a set number of plates are made, the mold is broken making the existing plates of any design worth more and more each succeeding year.

On a tour of the establishment, a viewer finds that this year licensed lines of 150th Michigan Birthday items are available including the tee shirts, pens, sweatshirts and the different containers manufactured. Also available are wedding items including cake knives which the store will engrave free of charge.

The Precious Moments and the Enesco Religious lines of ceramics are two more of the exclusive items. Party supplies and packages are available and the theme packages include "Over the Hill", "Tuxedo" and a highway sign program titled "Party Zone." Additional lines include, Minnetonka moccasins, fuzzy animals, cake tops and Russell Stover candies.

Steve said that the store carries 80 percent of all Hallmark lines offered. Customers are very loyal to the Hallmark line, he noted and will come a good distance to obtain the product.

Flo noted that a clean, well stocked store as well as personalized attention is a key to attracting customers. Steve observed that they plan well ahead for seasonal items. As an example, he pointed out that the Christmas lines will be arriving in June.

The store also acts as a United Parcel shipper for customer convenience, Flo said.

Many more details about the specialty items the store handles could be written but only a trip to Flo's Hallmark can really do justice to the variety of fine products handled there.

New Program at KCC Helps Employment Step

For seven Kirtland Community College students, a new program has shortened the step to employment. At the college's annual graduation ceremony, nine Kirtland students were eligible for a certificate through Contracting with Business and Industry (CWB & I). Of those, seven secured employment as a result of this unique program, according to John Lolacano, program coordinator.

The one-year certificate program is designed to allow students to receive maximum training in a minimum amount of time. Through CWB & I, students are placed in on-the-job training at local business and industrial sites. Training sites were established for contracting students to gain entry level job skills.

Students completing the necessary requirements in their occupational training areas and their respective trainers are: Grayling — Carol Gaballs, Floral Designer, Flowers by Josie; Mike Nichols, Radio Announcing, WQON-Ditmer Broadcasting Co., Inc.; Houghton Lake — Janice Kramer, Hotel/Motel Management, Holiday Inn of Houghton Lake; Sharla Lolacano, Accounting Clerk, DenBoer Accountants; Rose City — Denise Oldaugh, Bank Teller, Farmers Merchants State Bank of Hale; Tawas City — Kimberly Reed, Veterinary Assistant, Tawas Animal Hospital; West Branch — Nancy Grabow, Veterinary Assistant, West Branch Veterinary Services; Rose Stutesman, Sign Painting, Robbins Sign Company; Whittemore — Diane Plumlee, Industrial Secretary, Modular Machines, Inc.

The CWB & I program started in August of 1986 with the idea of serving job vacancies where skilled and semi-skilled applicants are not available. It was discovered that most employers choose to leave a job unfilled rather than hire an unskilled worker because minimum wage laws, unemployment insurance and the high cost of fringe benefits make on-the-job training an expensive proposition. The program is designed to prepare students for the working environment or to be used as a stepping stone to a higher degree.

Interested students or employers should contact Kirtland Community College by calling toll free 1-800-433-2517, or 517-275-5121, extension 297.

Free Fishing, Camping Offered In Michigan

A weekend of free fishing, boating and camping will kickoff a number of scheduled events planned by the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) for Sesquicentennial Natural Resources Week, June 7-14, 1987, as proclaimed by Governor James J. Blanchard.

"These scheduled events will afford a special opportunity for Michigan residents and our outstate visitors to not only enjoy the State's many natural recreational resources," said DNR Director Gordon E. Guyer, "but also, to recognize and appreciate those same resources that have made Michigan one of the major travel destinations in the United States."

Michigan's free fishing weekend, June 6-7, will headline the list of events by allowing residents and non-residents to fish without a fishing license. The weekend was approved by the Natural Resources Commission, who additionally approved an annual Michigan free fishing weekend over the next five years, to coincide with National Fishing Week, held annually, the first full week of June.

Other events scheduled during the week include:

- Free overnight lodging at all of the 150 State Forest Campgrounds on June 6 and June 7.

- Free vehicle entry into all 87 State Park and Recreation Areas on June 7. Open houses at each park and recreation area will also take place.

- Free mooring, launching and parking at the 11 State-owned harbors and 26 State public access sites on June 7.

- Open houses at all 84 DNR Regional, District and Field Offices and six State-operated fish hatcheries on selected days from June 8-12.

- A "living legends" awards ceremony honoring conservation leaders, past and present, communities and industries on June 12.

- A statewide rivers canoe flotilla, tentatively planned for June 13, held in conjunction with Michigan Rivers Month held in June.

- A reunion of the depression era Civilian Conservation Corps at North Higgins Lake State Park from June 4-7.
